TC CUT

Automatic Toe Closer for stockings equipped with a panty slitting device.

Santoni TC Cut allows a correct positioning of the stocking at the loading station, to automatically cut the panty portion immediately after the toe seaming.

The machine can also be equipped with a device to orient the toe seaming according to the position of the body slitting and performs the seam with a perfect "fish mouth" round shape.

At the end of the process a new unloading system picks up the product from the toe closer and mechanically transfers it to a carousel to stack it in bundles, opening the edges of the cut elastic and thus preparing the stockings for the subsequent manual assembly operation.
